WORK UP TO DATE.

Dead Letter Office Now Abreast With Business.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General 2. V. DeGrav was pleased today because 'or the first time in twenty-seven years he work of the dead letter office of his bureau is up to date. The same condition revails in the other offices of the bureau, which includes the rural delivery service and the division of post office supplies. But it is with special pride that he points o the fact that under J. Russell Young. he superintendent of the dead letter ofice, he has been able to bring that office nto line with the rest. "So much of the work of the dead let-er office would be saved," he said, "it people only took pains to carefully address be quickly rectified if they would but write their own names and addresses on he back of their letter envelopes, for then in case of misdirection the letters sould be promptly returned.

"Then, again, right here in our owne ity section of the city for which their letters the police that the man was murdered. tre intended.

"Since the law permitting the use of ordinary postage stamps to be attached to a letter to secure its quick delivery. ustead of the special delivery stamp, it ias become a practice on the part of ome senders to let the stamps overlap den nausea in their barracks here today. each other in pasting them on the enrelope, so as to get them into a compact space. That practice kills the value of ivery overlapped stamp."

PRESENT CONDITIONS TO CON-TINUE THROUGH TOMORROW.

bserver Collects Data Giving Record for July During Last Thirty-Seven Years.

Following a drop of about fifteen degrees in the temperature last evening, accompanied by local showers, Prof. Garriott said today that present conditions will continue tonight and probably tomorrow. He added that there is no hot wave or cooler conditions in sight, but the weather will be seasonal.

A looking-backward statement has been issued by the weather bureau from data collected by Observer J. H. Jones of the meteorological station in this city. It covers the past thirty-seven years and gives weather conditions in the months of July in that period. It is stated that it is issued to show the conditions that have prevailed during the month in question for the above period of years, but must not be construed as a forecast of the weather conditions for the coming month.

Rather Warm in 1887. The statement shows that the highest temperature recorded in July in the past July 18, 1887. The lowest temperature was 52-or 20 degrees above the freezing point-July 31, 1895. The other data furnished are as follows: Mean or normal temperature, 77 degrees The warmest month was that of 1876, with an average of 81 degrees. The coldest month was that of 1891, with an average of 72 degrees. Average rainfall for the month, 4.74

Average number of days with .01 of an inch or more rainfall, 12. The greatest monthly precipitation was 10.63 inches in 1886. The least monthly precipitation was 0.82 The greatest amount of precipitation recorded in any twenty-four consecutive hours was 5.80 inches July 29-30, 1878. Average relative humidity 8 a.m. and 8 p.m., 74 per cent. Clouds and weather-Average number of clear days, 11; partly cloudy days, 13; cloudy days, 7. Wind-The prevailing winds are from the south. The average hourly velocity of the wind is 5.4 miles. The highest velocity of the wind was 60 miles from the
